1. Copyright ownership

The signing author(s) retain copyright and moral rights in the manuscript. No copyright is transferred to STA Journal. No exclusive publishing rights, exclusive commercial exploitation rights, or other exclusive interests in copyright are granted to the Journal.

2. Non-exclusive right of first publication

If the manuscript is accepted for publication, the author(s) grant STA Journal a royalty-free, worldwide, perpetual, non-exclusive permission to publish the work for the first time as an academic journal article; reproduce it digitally; make it publicly available; index it; preserve it in long-term archives; and maintain public access to it. This permission does not prevent the author(s) from using, depositing or sharing the work in accordance with the applicable licence. Corrections and retractions for publishing-ethics reasons are handled under the Journal's published policies.

3. Open access and public licence

The author(s) agree that the full text of the accepted article will be made publicly available upon publication under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International (CC BY-NC 4.0) licence. This licence permits non-commercial sharing and adaptation, provided appropriate credit is given, a licence link is provided and changes are indicated. No additional restrictions may be imposed on the licence. Full licence: https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/

4. Originality and third-party material

The author(s) declare that the manuscript is original, has been prepared in accordance with research and publication ethics, and does not infringe third-party rights. The author(s) confirm that permissions have been obtained, or another lawful basis for use exists, for third-party images, tables, quotations and other material. Third-party material not covered by CC BY-NC 4.0 must be expressly identified in the article together with its owner, source and relevant licence or permission terms.

5. Author reuse and self-archiving

The author(s) may deposit and share the preprint, accepted manuscript and published Version of Record in personal, institutional or subject repositories without embargo, with appropriate acknowledgement of the original publication. The article may also be reused in later scholarly work, subject to proper citation of its publication in STA Journal. This clause does not supersede the independent editorial policies of other publications.

6. Declaration, consent and effect

By signing below, the author(s) confirm that they have read and understood this form and the referenced CC BY-NC 4.0 licence and grant the permissions set out above insofar as they own the relevant rights. The form takes effect on the date of signature and does not automatically apply retroactively to articles already published or agreements previously executed.

AUTHOR APPROVAL AND SIGNATURES

For multi-author submissions, approval from all authors should be obtained. For more than four authors, an additional signature sheet containing the same information may be attached.
